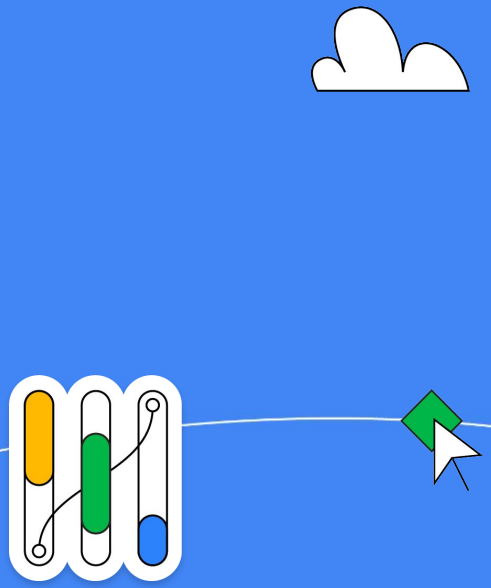
Redeem Cloud Credits



Google for Developers

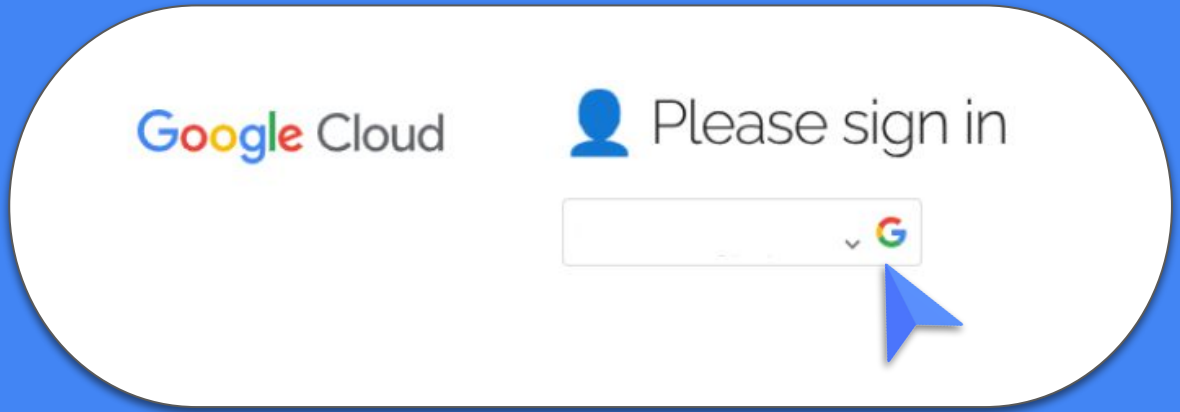
Step 1: Visit trygcp.dev link

Claim your credit using the link below:

trygcp.dev/claim/event-id

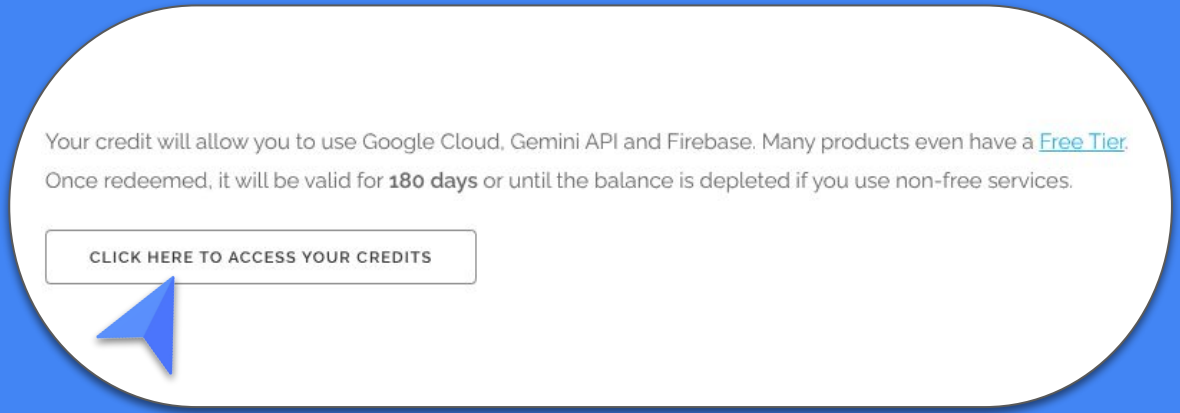
Step 2: Sign in with gmail

Make sure to sign with the same Google account as used in Google Cloud Console.



Step 3: Access your credits

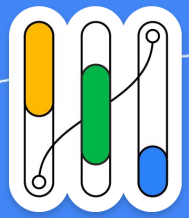
Upon arrival at the site, you will be prompted to click a button to access your credits.



Step 4: Accept T&C

On the next page, you will find editable fields for your First and Last Name. Please verify that these details are accurate and that you are signed into the correct account. To move forward, review the Terms of Service and then click the blue "Accept and Continue" button.

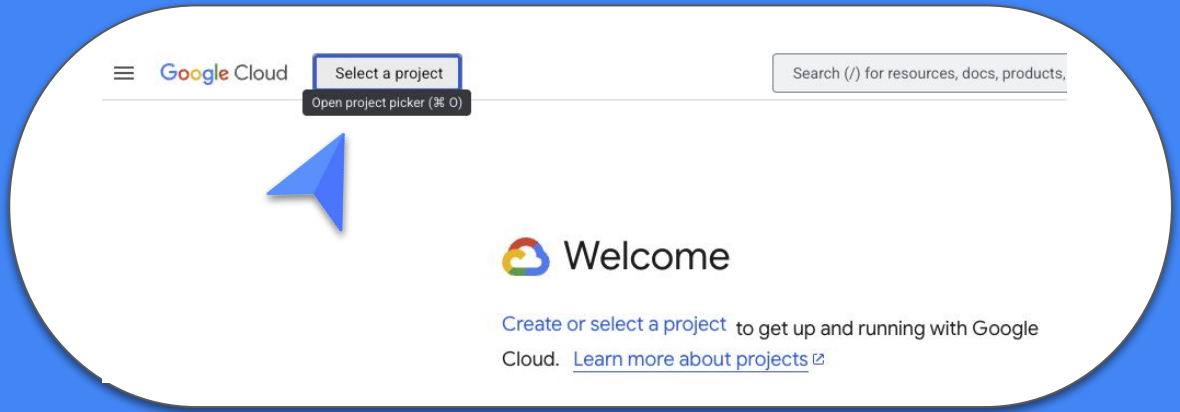
Create a new project in Google Cloud Console



Google for Developers

Step 1: Click 'Select a project'

Go to https://console.cloud.google.com/ and sign in with your Gmail account. If you're new, you may be prompted to sign up and activate the Google Cloud Free Program. Once you successfully log in, locate the dropdown menu labeled 'Select a project' or 'My first project' next to the Google Cloud logo and click on it.



Step 2: Click 'New Project'

Locate and click the blue 'New Project' link on the right side of the screen.

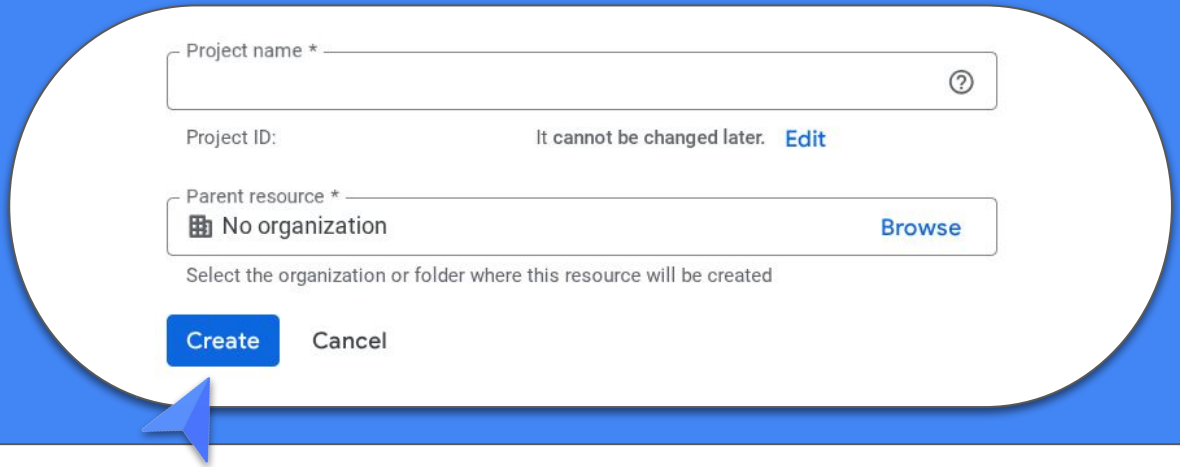
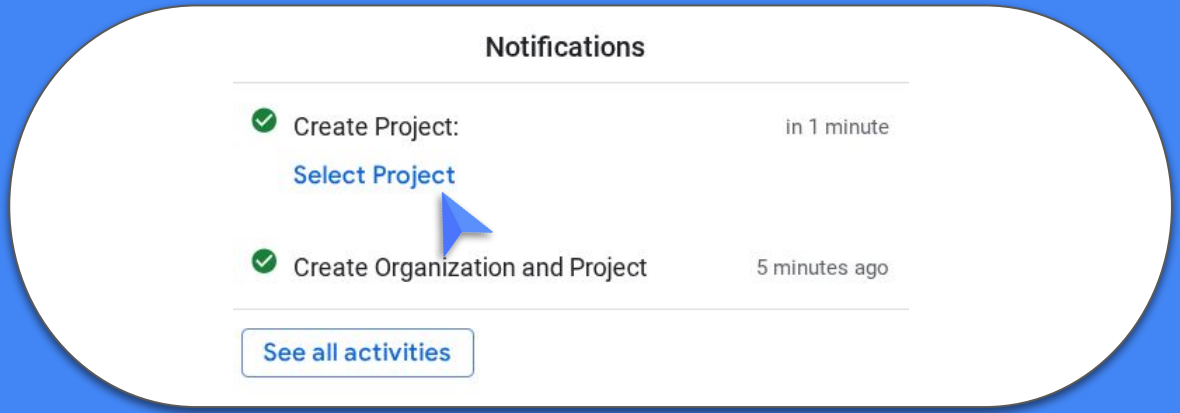
Step 3: Enter project information

Enter a name for your project and keep 'No organization' selected under the parent resource. If a prompt appears asking for a billing account, select 'Google Cloud Platform Trial Billing Account' from the dropdown menu, then click the blue 'Create' button.



Step 4: Select the project

When the pop-up on the right-hand side appears, click 'Select Project.' Alternatively, you can follow a similar path to Step 1: click the dropdown menu next to the Google Cloud logo, but this time, choose your newly created project.



Step 5: Billing setup

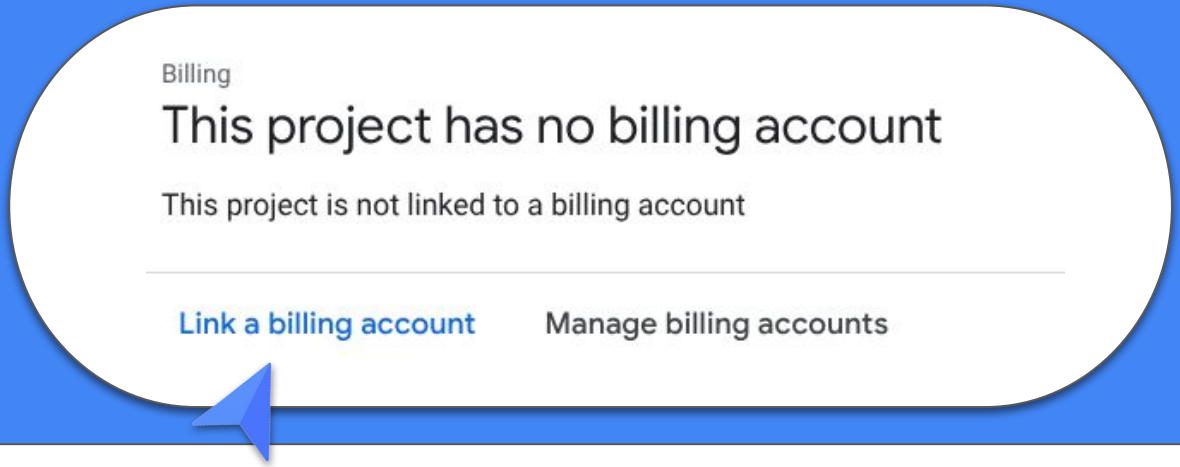
Step 6: Link a billing account

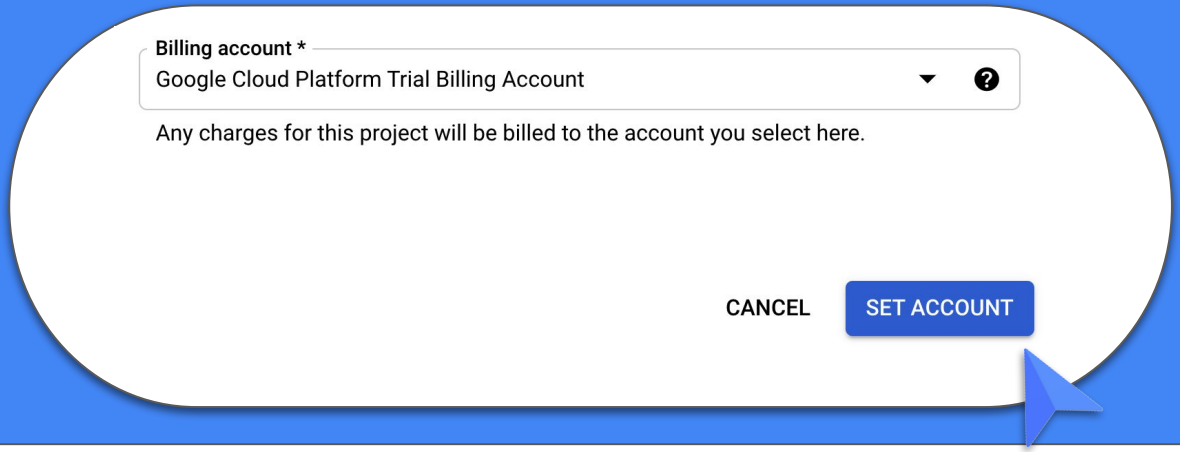
A notification will appear stating that this project has no billing account; this is expected.

To link one, click 'Link a billing account.'



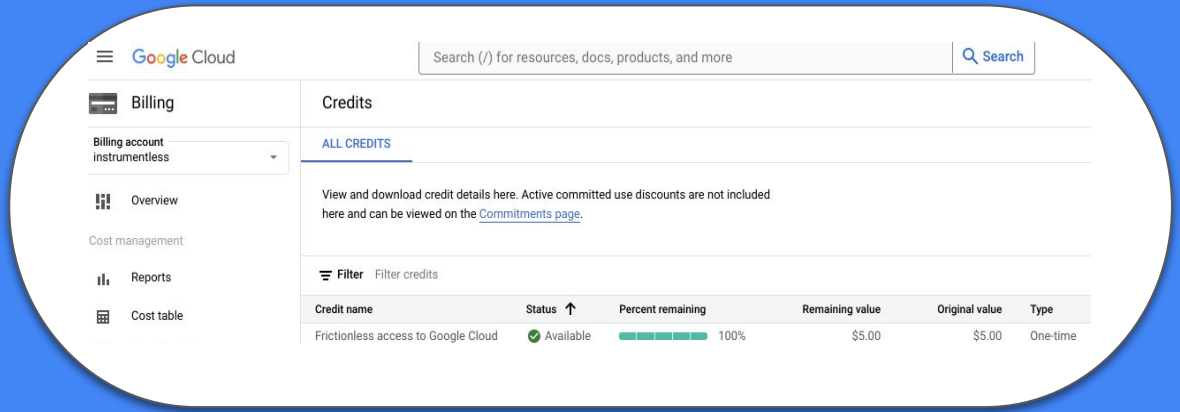
Step 7: Select the correct billing account

Select 'Google Cloud Platform Trial Billing Account' from the dropdown menu. Then, click the blue 'Set account' button below to confirm.



Step 8: Check the credits

On the left-hand side of the Billing page, click on 'Credits.' Here, you can view your newly activated credits and track important details such as the start date, end date, and the percentage remaining.



Step 9: Optional - Update billing account name

If you have multiple Cloud Billing accounts with similar names, you might want to modify the name of each billing account to help you distinguish between accounts. Don't include sensitive information such as personally identifiable information (PII) or security data in your billing account name.

1. In the Google Cloud console, go to the Account management page.
2. At the prompt, choose the Cloud Billing account that you want to update.
3. At the top of the page, click Rename billing account.
4. Enter a new name for the Cloud Billing account.
5. Click Rename to save your changes.
